"To Stand on Life-Giving Ground"

Senior Academic & SBC Sports Awards 2024

Kia Ora everyone, and a very warm welcome to all the families present here today, thank you for coming out and supporting your boys tonight

My name is Trace Iti and I was the head student here at Bernard's this year. Congratulations to all of the boys on their achievements throughout the year. I know you have worked hard for those awards and it's good to see all that hard work paying off.

So as my time here at Bernards draws to a close I've been spending the last week and a bit really making the most of the rest of my time here. Hanging out with the boys and enjoying everyone's company for possibly the last time. And it's been getting me thinking about all the great memories I've made here over the past five years.

Stepping through the entrance in 2020, I remember gathering on the field as a year group before being invited to sit in the gym. Mr Stack introduced all the year 13 leaders to us and gave a little introduction to the school. Eventually people were getting organised into their classes. I'm sitting waiting for my name to get called out and when it finally does, I'm in some guy named Mr Boon's class. I was a little bit gutted because the only people I really knew at the school weren't in the class but I had to move on so I grabbed my bag and my journey at Bernard's began as a part of 9BN.

I made many great friends and memories in that class and that theme continued throughout the junior school, into the senior and then finally to here today. I'm sure like a lot of my classmates I've been thinking back through all the great things I've experienced throughout my time here and I have noticed a few common themes about the things I've experienced at Bernard's.

I think the first thing that jumps out at me is the multiple times I've had to push myself out beyond my comfort zone and be okay with trusting that I have a group of people around me to support my needs. Thinking back to year nine, I was in Ms Prasad's English class and we were all tasked with writing and presenting a short speech on a topic of our choice. Maybe a few of you from that class will remember but I was shaking and nervous...trying to deliver this speech on the 'tasks of Hercules' in front of a class of like 30 people. I can't even remember if I passed that standard but I remember it being a shockingly bad effort. I'd like to say heading into this year I had fixed my public speaking worries but that's just not true.

I think the thing that helped me push past these barriers was the support I was getting from a bunch of different people: from teachers, mates and especially Mr Stack, I could really feel the sense of brotherhood that this school prides itself on. I think these different support systems have helped me a lot throughout my time at college. Nobody should be too proud to accept help. I've come to learn it is an essential part of growth and learning.

I feel honoured and blessed to be surrounded by so many great people in my life and if I was to share one lesson this place has taught me to the world it would be to surround yourself with people who support and want the best for you. I am very grateful to many people in my life that have taken up this role for me and I'd like to close with just a few thanks to some special people.

First of all, of course, my family, You guys are always there for me whether it's coming out to support at my basketball games, nagging me to get my school work done or constantly reminding me to get my washing out the laundry. My mates for making my time here unforgettable. Of course thank you to this place...this school for building me from a little year 9 to a year 13. I appreciate the hard work all my teachers have put in and especially Mr Stack for supporting me throughout this year.

So Cheers and enjoy the rest of the night
